

Rappahannock Foot & Ankle Runners'+ Resource

Some useful resources graciously provided at a recent seminars by Sports Medicine Doctor and running enthusiast: Mark Cucuzzella, MD, FAAFP; Professor, Family Medicine, West Virginia University; Lt Col, US Air Force Reserves; Chief Medical Consultant, Air Force Marathon. I've incorporated other useful resources.

1. Dr Cucuzzella's new book Run For Your Life covers all the topics ☺☐The book website under resources has dozens of teaching videos <http://runforyourlifebook.com/>

2. Website for healthy running - www.naturalrunningcenter.com. go to "Dr. Marks Desk" link for posts on nutrition, training, local stuff, and the joy of running. Watch "Principles of Natural Running" with over 1 million views

3. All of Dr. Phil Maffetone's books are gold (Training for Endurance, Big Book Health and Wellness, Big Book of Endurance Training and Racing). www.philmaffetone.com

4. Spend some time on "RunRx" on <http://naturalrunningcenter.com/>. The button is along the upper menu – drop down links with Chapters. Lots of drills with run form stuff, endurance, strength, glutes, etc. Much of it in video. The "Fun Drills" tab has the dynamics (lunge matrix, sumo, world's greatest stretch) The "Healthy Fuel" has lots of link outs and books to read .

5. US Air Force Efficient Running iphone/android friendly training modules. View these and watch and practice some of the stuff on the videos. Also on this site too with direct access to videos on drills and assessments <http://www.efficientrunning.net/>

6. This blog has the basic ABCD, burpee, mountain climber, strides, and slow jog . <http://naturalrunningcenter.com/2017/03/19/wake-spring-spring-simple-drills/>

I like the short Egoscue sequence for upper body position and you can do these anytime

#	Sets	Reps/Duration	Exercise
1.	2	40	Standing Arm Circles
2.	1	25	Standing Elbow Curls
3.	1	0:01:00	Standing Overhead Extension

Some stuff on opening up the hips. Lawrence Van Lingen's hip sequence:
